

Research profile

Dr. Kang Zeng is the chief of the Department of Dermatology and Venereology in Nanfang Hospital of Southern Medical University. Research in his group include the application and mechanism of PDT in diverse skin disorders and autologous peripheral hematopoietic stem cell transplantation (APHSCT) in pemphigus vulgaris. Dr. Zeng hosts five National Natural Science Foundations of China, and owns two invention patents. He and his group have been publishing many articles in the field of PDT every single year, and got a major achievement of PDT, showing as the follow: Clinical PDT Research Excellence Award in International Photodynamic Association World Congress (IPA) in 2019.